The E Source 2025 Customer and Employee Experience Awards are now closed.

What we're looking for

Tell us about your successful customer or employee experience initiative and we'll consider it for the Customer and Employee Experience Awards. This year, we're honoring utilities for their work in three categories:

- Residential customer experience
- Business customer experience
- Employee experience

Achievements in residential or business customer experience. These awards celebrate excellence in residential and business customer experience management efforts within the industry. They'll highlight tactics and programs that enhance customers' experiences, such as:

- Improvements to key journeys like billing; payment; start, stop, or transfer service; outages; and new construction
- Web or mobile experience enhancements
- Community engagement and services
- Energy management or advisory programs
- Affordability or financial assistance programs
- Customer experience-focused technology implementations such as customer information systems

Achievements in employee experience. This award celebrates innovative methods in employee engagement that result in a favorable customer experience. It will highlight utilities that are working hard to engage, enable, educate, empower, and reward employees to provide exceptional customer service.

The Small Utility Excellence Award

Smaller teams and budgets can present big challenges for customer and employee experience initiatives. We want to recognize utilities' efforts through our Small Utility Excellence Award, which we added in 2024. To be considered for this category, utilities with 300,000 customers or fewer should simply complete a submission for one or more awards in the above categories. We'll evaluate the entries to select a winner for this honor.
